

Shauna Ironside - Planning for Return to School – 9 July 2020

I encourage you to read this article (I imagine you already have, but here it is again because what happens in September is THE most important thing that ANY parent has on their minds right now).

<https://www.google.ca/amp/s/www.todaysparent.com/kids/school-age/ontario-school-reopening-plan/amp/>

This is also a great read that most parents can relate to, despite it coming from the USA:

https://www.nytimes.com/2020/07/02/business/covid-economy-parents-kids-career-homeschooling.html?smid=ig-nytimes&utm_source=curalate_like2buy&utm_medium=curalate_like2buy_3euQ1BMQ_9f2a247f-4f26-4a3c-85d8-e27dfa382842&crl8_id=9f2a247f-4f26-4a3c-85d8-e27dfa382842

I'll highlight the part about parents feeling feeling "inessential".

We've sat back and done the schoolwork and accepted that our professions and careers are considered Inessential, but we've had enough.

If the SCIENCE says 2 days (as is the plan for your current hybrid mode) is safest, then fine. But I strongly encourage you and your people to look at other countries and dig deep. Because you will have a revolt in September if YOUR HOMEWORK is not done.