

About this Environmental Scan

Purpose:

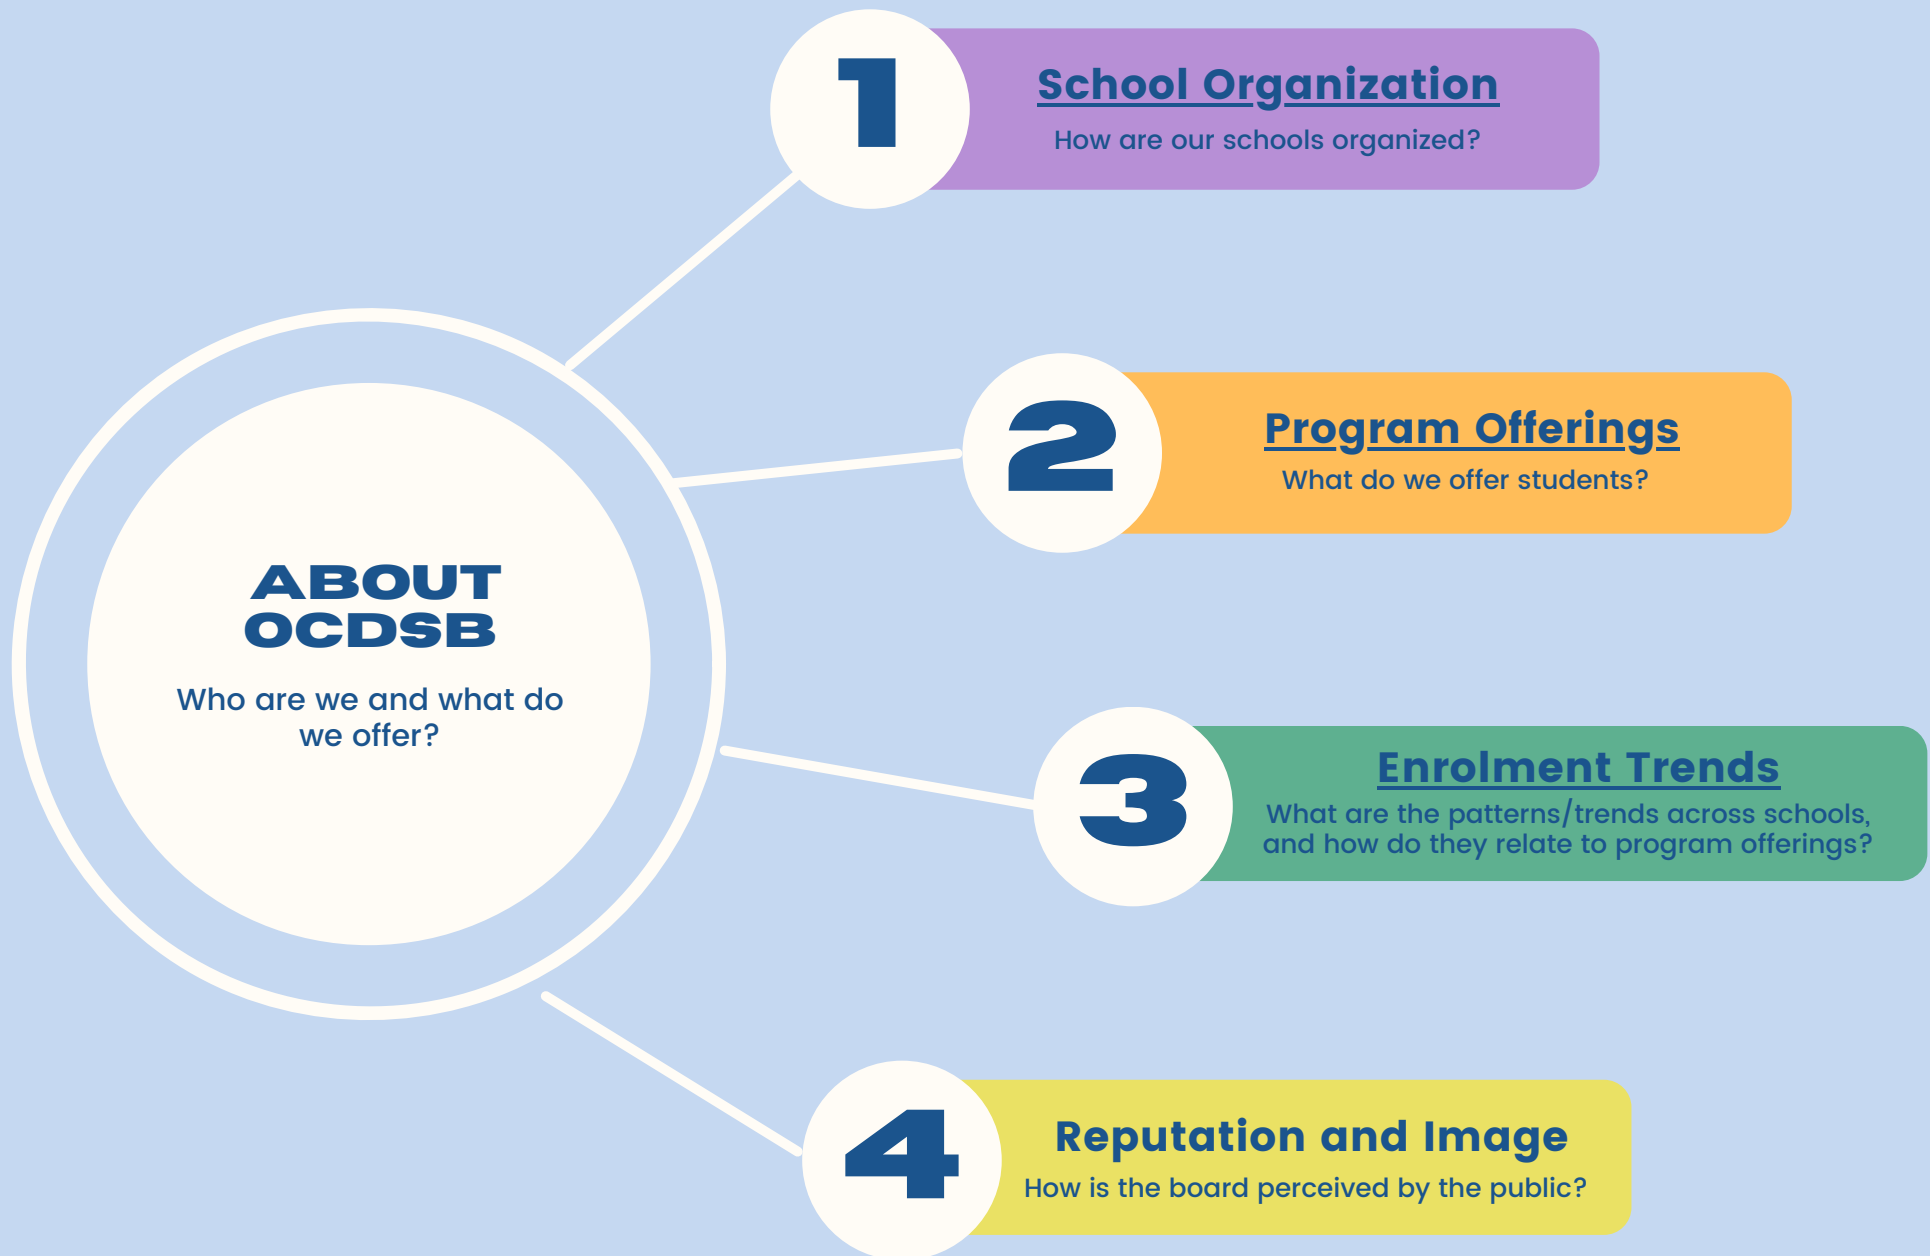

The Environmental Scan provides a profile of the OCDSB and its internal and external environments. Using data from several sources and departments, it seeks to contextualize current trends, shifts, and patterns.

The environmental scan is intended to be used as one of several sources to inform the strategic planning process. We've used a number of data sources, recognizing that there are always some limitations to the data, based on the collection methodology used at the source and comparisons between sources from different data sets.

This year, we have made an important shift in our approach to the environmental scan. It has been built for use electronically, rather than on paper, which allows for dynamic interaction with the data sources. We've also worked to make it more accessible, streamlining the data, and addressing thoughtful questions, which will influence how we approach our work over the next four years. The document provides snapshots or summaries of key data points with links to the fulsome reports where further exploration can be conducted. Wherever possible, the document includes conclusions and consideration of impacts, including: assessing the OCDSB in the context of the K-12 education environment; considering organizational strengths and weaknesses, opportunities and threats; highlighting population growth, demographics, enrolment trends, programming, technology usage, human resources data, and other quantitative and qualitative data.

How to use:

This environmental scan is built on seven major sections. Users can access each section using the link from Title Page. This is a progressive document and is being rolled out by section, starting with "About OCDSB" and "Our Students". Each section addresses a number of questions and answers them through infographics and summary text. Should the reader seek further information on any question, a link to the reference document can be found in a bubble next to each question.

Throughout the Covid-19 pandemic, we had multiple check-ins with the community, where participants could share and prioritize feedback and ideas. The check-in conducted March 2022 gives us insight into the community's thoughts. Some highlights from parents/guardians include:

"The pandemic showed how underfunded our edu system is. Mandates or not, can't we all agree our kids need more educators and mh professionals? Prioritizing mental health is more than avoiding their discomfort. Whatever we do some kids will be adversely affected, we need to help them navigate."

"Create more flexible learning spaces. Outdoor classrooms and other ways that children can learn without sitting at their desk the entire day"

"Prioritize keeping kids in school. Mental health."

"Continue to be transparent in your information sharing , and in asking for parents feedback on various issues. It's important to be well informed about everything concerning my children's education"

"Keep OCV running permanently !
For the many children who are unable to participate in in-person learning and are thriving so well in Virtual!"

"Thank you to all educators. Thank you. Thank you. Thank you."

"Lower class sizes. Students are struggling and can't be supported because there are too many struggling students in each class. One teacher can only do so much."

"realize that kids learn differently and not all parents can same level of provide support at home to create opportunities for all children to succeed"

"Readiness for post secondary- provide more support. I'm concerned about this generation's readiness for academic success at post secondary institutions. I am not sure what the solution is."

Race

Indigenous and Racial group not listed were lower than OCDSB Overall; Middle Eastern was higher. Caution should be used when interpreting this data because some groups are small and confounding variables are not accounted for (e.g., comparisons do not consider the impact that job/role may have on engagement, which may also be related to race).

Length of Service

The trend of new employees as being the most engaged is seen in most organizations. Engagement will decline after the first year. In some organizations, engagement will remain at those low levels, but for other organizations, including the OCDSB, engagement will increase for those nearing the end of their working career.

Staff Well-Being

How are our staff doing physically and mentally?

- Average Sick Days Lost within the OCDSB was less than other Ontario school boards (n = 61; School Board's Co-operative Inc. Absence Study)
 - 12.73 Days (OCDSB) vs. 15.18 Days (Participating District School Boards) in 2021-2022
Note: Not all school boards used a separate absence code for quarantine leave and so their absence rates may appear higher; however, even when quarantine days are included in sick days, OCDSB sick days are still less than the average.
- OCDSB had lower absences by Employee Group in most categories
 - ECEs (21.09), EAs (18.70), Custodial/Maintenance (17.55), Elementary Teachers (13.74), Secondary Teachers (11.86), Principals/Vice Principals (9.34), Other Union (7.67), and Union Exempt (4.56).
- Short Term Sick Leave usage (less than 5 consecutive days) for OCDSB was lower than participating school boards
 - 42.46% versus 44.16%
- Long Term Sick Leave (5 or more consecutive days) in OCDSB was higher than participating school boards
 - 57.54% versus 55.84%

Overall, there has been an increase in sick leave across board schools

Educators &
Other Staff

Findings from our February 2022 Community Check-In indicated that (at that time) 72% of educators and 51% of other staff reported well-being as fair or poor. Low well-being was largely tied to workload and staff burnout.

Stressful work at a fast pace. It needs to have competitive wages with other school boards within its area. If you are working evening shifts there should be a night shift Premium or something (custodian)

Teachers are completely spread thin. We need more time, more support, and fewer demands. One day between semesters is not enough. PD days should be 50% PD and 50% teacher priority. Hybrid models are stressful and hard to maintain.

Consider the heavy workload for employees because we are all exhausted.

Stop saying staff mental health matters, when there is no support for it. Providing links to 3rd party counselling and reminding us to "take time for ourselves" is not supporting mental health. Get more EAs and smaller classes Educators are not okay. Recognize that we have been overburdened and look to unburden us. (Min preps/ duties, less flexed classes, less "can you?.." Worker burnout and other mental health issues are growing within our educators.

Ministry

Ontario Ministry of Education

Responsible for government policy, funding, curriculum planning and direction in all levels of public education, including elementary and secondary schools.

The Ministry allocates funding to each board using a formula based on student enrolment, and the unique needs of the students in each board.

School boards receive funding in two ways:

1. Education property taxes collected by the City of Ottawa, and
2. The Province tops up the amount to bring the total to the amount set out by the funding formula.

The Ministry administers legislation, such as the Education Act. It sets direction and expectations for district school boards, which includes:

- Developing and publishing curriculum documents and teaching resources for kindergarten to Grade 12.
- Setting provincial standards and guidelines for all assessment, evaluation and reporting.
- Setting requirements for student diplomas and certificates.

Human Rights

How does our increased awareness of human rights issues impact our approach moving forward?

In November 2022, we asked a group of staff and community members:
What is your best advice for moving forward with the Roadmap to transform cultures for students, staff and families?

"Ensuring that our students backgrounds and cultures are represented in the staff of their education team. Seeing an aspect of yourself reflected in your educators is paramount in developing a sense of trust and ability to truly take on the work"

"Pay attention to the voices of the young people. They will tell you when they feel they belong but you have to listen and hard for when they do not. We must reduce the sense of isolation"

"We started the conversation of how to make our schools more inclusive and how we can support our students. It is so important to continue this. Students are the leaders of tomorrow and we need to ensure we do everything in our power now to support them in becoming their best selves."

"Thank you for listening to me tonight , my ancestors thank you , I thank you My courage help keep my culture alive"

"Continue to showcase & celebrate student brilliance in all its forms .Celebrating student voice, experience and learning is paramount to believing in oneself and empowerment."

"continue to centre student voice and experiences. that is why we are here, this is who we are serving"

"Everything that I heard tonight is inspirational. I want us to hold OCDSB accountable to ensure every school addresses inequity, barriers. there is a lot of work to do to continue to address all issues of equity, systemic and structural discrimination in schools"
